

Alabama Hawking Association

www.alabamafalconry.com

The Alabama Hawking Association is an organization that was established to continue and encourage the time-honored tradition of hunting small game with birds of prey. We promote and support scientific studies, educational programs, and practices which are directed toward the conservation of raptors as a species and the preservation of falconry as a field sport.

The AHA is currently seeking donations for a raffle that will be held at our annual field meet, which takes place in February each year. The proceeds raised at the meet allow us to continue our efforts of promoting falconry as a sport in Alabama, as well as educating the public about raptors in the wild and the role falconry plays in the conservation of the species.

A cash or product donation of any amount would be greatly appreciated. To thank you for your donation, your name and website link will appear on the Sponsor Page of the Alabama Hawking Association website and will be prominently displayed at the meet.
